MONDAY, March 19th, 1744. [Numb. 521]

LONDON, December 1.

WE are told from Hanover, that the Crown of Great-Britain is to take again 6000 Danes into her Pay, and that the 4000 Hessians, that were in the Emperor's Service, will also be taken into the same Pay, and serve in the Confederate Army next Spring.

They write from Stockholm, that the Prince Royal of Sweden has so captivated the Affections of the Swedes, and shews himself of so compassionate a Temper, in charitably soliciting the King and the Senate for Reprieves, for such Persons as lie in Prison for Offences that do not absolutely deserve Death, that the Dalecarlians in particular, for whom he has likewise interceded, have unanimously bound themselves by the most solemn Oaths, to spill the last Drop of their Blood in Defence of the Nation, in case the Crown of Denmark does not listen to reasonable Terms.

They write from Paris, that the King of the Two Sicilies having demanded of his most Christian Majesty Succours, to which he is entitled by Treaty, for the Preservation of his Dominions, after a long Debate in Council it was determined to grant them, notwithstanding the warm Opposition made thereto by some Persons of the highest Rank, who asserted, that the Treasures of France were not able to support the Expences of German Subsidies joined to a War in Italy.

They write from Oporto, the 28th of Nov. N. S. that the Richard and Martha, Everden, from Newfoundland, had been saved by the Welsh Man of War and was arrived at Oporto. The said Man of War has also destroyed one Privateer, and forced another over Port Bar.

The Victor, Gyles, from Bristol and Ireland for Oporto, was taken off the Bar of Oporto by a Spanish Privateer, after an Engagement of two Hours, in which the Spaniards were killed; she is carried into Bayonne.

December 5. They write from Breslau in Silesia, that the Count de Zinzendorff, who is a Bishop among the Moravians, set out lately for the Northern Countries, in order to convert the Laplanders, &c. to Christianity; that is, to the Knowledge and Profession of Christian Duties; for otherwise, the People are as good natured Christians as their Neighbours.

According to a List lately published at Paris, the French Fleet will consist of 83 Men of War of the Line, besides a large Fleet of Transports, having thirty Battalions on board. The Chevalier de Gayhas set out on the 1st of December, N.S. for Toulon, to see the Troops embark'd: —— So that this Expedition cannot remain much longer a Secret; indeed the only Reason for suspecting it is design'd to be so, is the Ministry's publickly declaring it is for Italy.

They write from Hanover, that his Majesty, before his Departure from thence, gave strict Orders that all the Regiments both in the Electorate and in Flanders should be recruited with the utmost Diligence, so as to have them perfectly compleat by the Beginning of the Month of March.

The very last Letters from Naples inform us, that the King had assembled 25,000 Men, with a Resolution to defend his Country in Conjunction with the Spanish Army, in case they should be attacked after retiring into the Neapolitan Territories for Security.

They write from Genoa, that a secret Negociation is on Foot in order to compromize the Disputes between the King of Sardinia and that Republick, as to the Marquisate of Final, to which he becomes entitled upon the Payment of 1,200,000 Crowns; the Queen of Hungary having by the late Treaty of Worms resign'd to his Majesty her Equity of Redemption, the late Emperor having yielded his Country to the Republick for a certain Sum of Money.

December 6. Several Men of War are order'd by the Lords of the Admiralty to sail immediately to cruize off the Western Islands.

The French Troops at Antibes, which had by Degrees been swell'd to thirteen Battalions, have been suddenly withdrawn, and sent into Winter Quarters in the adjacent Provinces.

Our last Advices from Madrid, by the Way of France, say, the Marquis de la Mina is actually disgraced; that he had Orders to quit the Command of the Army to the Marquis de Castellar, Son in Law to the Duke de Montemar.

The same Letters say, that the Army in Savoy is in the utmost Confusion. The Swiss Soldiers fancy'd that less Care was taken of them, in the Distribution of Quarters, than of the Spaniards, of which Col Bocay complain'd to the Infant Don Philip; who, instead of giving him any Answer, sent him further to Speak: Upon which 300 Swiss deserted in one Night's Time.

Private Letters from Dresden say, that a definitive Treaty between that Court and the Court of Vienna has been lately concluded, under the Mediation of his Britannick Majesty; and that the former was soon to march a Body of Troops for the Service of the latter.

Yesterday Sir Charles Hardy, Knight, Rear-Admiral of the Blue, kiss'd his Majesty's Hand on his being appointed one of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.

December 8. We hear that General Wade, will Command in Chief the Forces in Germany next Spring.

The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have order'd the Jersey, Burford, and Suffolk, each 70 Gun Ships, with two others, to sail forthwith, and join Admiral Mathews.

December 13. On Monday Night, as a Lieutenant of a Man of War was returning to London from Portsmouth, he was attack'd in a narrow Channel between Godalmin and Guilford by a Highwayman well mounted, who order'd him to strike; but the Officer refusing so to do, the Highwayman fired two Broadsides at him, which did him no other Harm than shooting away part of his Rigging: The Lieutenant then, in his Turn, tho' he had no Guns, boarded the Pyrate and seized him, took him in Tow, and brought him into Guilford.

December 15. Admiral Mathews having received Advice, that a very large Spanish Privateer, commanded by the famous Andero a Master, was cruizing in the Archipelago to annoy the English Navigation in those Parts, has dispatched a Frigate in quest of her.

His Majesty's Ship the Orford has taken and carried into Jamaica a Spanish Sloop, with 24,000 Pieces of Eight in Specie.

December 17. On Wednesday General Wade kiss'd his Majesty's Hand at St. James's, on his being appointed Commander in Chief of his Majesty's Forces in Flanders.

We hear, that Expresses have been dispatched to the several Ports, from the Lords of the Admiralty, with some particular Instructions to the Captains of the Men of War that are ready to put to Sea.

From the London Gazette.
